SHANGHAI'S FOREIGN POPULATION GROWING

[By Associated Press]
SHANGHAI, China.—Shanghai now has a foreign population of 18,519, a gain of 4983 over the last census, which was taken in 1910. The official census which the city has just completed shows that the increase in the foreign population since 1890 has been 14,798.

Japanese outnumber any other nationality in Shanghai. There are now 7169 of that race in this city. The British come second with 4822. The Portuguese population numbers 1323. Americans rank fourth with 1307. Germans have 1155. Indians rank sixth with a total of 1009.

After spending nearly eight months at the front with his troops, King Victor Emmanuel returned to Rome.

REHEARSING IN GROUPS FOR BIG NATIVE PAGEANT

No public rehearsal will be given for the Hawaiian pageant which the Sons and Daughters of the Warriors will present during the Carnival at Waikiki beach, but those who are to take part are privately going through their parts in groups, and the boys at Kamehameha school who are to appear are practicing in a body. When the time comes for the spectacle, it is expected that all will go smoothly.

Costumes for the pageant are all on hand, many of them having been used in previous pageants and others being among the antiques preserved by the Daughters of the Warriors.

Mrs. F. W. Macfarlane is in charge of all arrangements for the pageant.

Joseph Cohn, a Rumanian, escaped from the Matteawan, N. Y., State hospital. He was to have been deported in a few days.

MOROSCO PAYS FABULOUS SUM TO BROADHURST

Royalties on Plays Released for Screen Will Run to About $150,000 Yearly

For some time past the leading authors of the day have been gradually picked up by the photo-play producing companies of the country and large sums paid as royalties to the "knights of the pen" for the privilege of screening their works. At the present time efforts are being laid to secure the services of the leading playwrights for exclusive screen work.

George Broadhurst has but recently been secured by the Oliver Morosco Photoplay Company. His offerings are released through Paramount Service. The Morosco company has secured the rights to a large number of Broadhurst's stage successes and also to anything he may produce for a number of years to come.

Features that will be released from time to time from the Morosco studios as a result of this affiliation include: "The American Lord," "The Wrong Mr. Wright," "Why Smith Left Home," "The Speculator," "A Fool and His Money," "An International Marriage," "The Crown Prince," "The Law of the Land," "The Captain," "The Easterner," "What Money Can't Buy," "Don't Weaken," "A Man and His Wife," "A Lucky Dog," "Justice," "The Plainsman," "The Holy City," and "Winning Him Back." In the four last mentioned Broadhurst will appear in the cast.

According to a telegram sent out by the Morosco company upon the signing of the contract with Broadhurst, the royalties of Broadhurst amount to more than $150,000 yearly, and he was only secured by this concern after a spirited financial contest with other leading companies.

Probably the most important fact uncovered by this deal is the rapid strides of the silent drama. A few years ago the man who suggested securing the services of such a man and paying such a figure for the services would have been considered a fit subject for a strait-jacket. Today the producing concerns wage financial warfare for just such an affiliation.

While this is by all means the largest deal of its kind thus far consummated and the check handed to Broadhurst at the conclusion of the arrangements was probably the largest check ever handed to an author for his services, there is no telling where the end will be.

The state department was informed that a large number of letters from a fictitious address in Toronto, Canada, purporting to be signed by a British major, had been mailed to Americans in the United States urging them to enlist in the British army.
